

Daryl and Laura Carlson returning to Alaska.

We have 40 shares remaining!

May 14th is our deadline to reach 100% of our support so we can reach the unreached in Alaska.

We just handed all of our worldly possessions into the faithful hands of Missionary Transport. It will be waiting for us in Glennallen, Alaska when we arrive. Just when that will be is the exciting part.

On Thursday, we leave for a whirl wind trip starting in Bismarck, North Dakota. I (Daryl) hope to get together with some of my Uncles and Aunts whom I have only met once before. We also will be doing a presentation on Friday night, April 30th. Please pray that people will be encouraged and our support team will grow!

The next stop is Nipawin in Saskatchewan, Canada. PATH Ministries has an incredible training program to help those who will be serving to show the love of God to First Nation people. There is so much that we do not know and we are eager to learn! For example, in the book, "The Grieving Indian" I read that over 80% of Native Americans die an unexpected death. I know from personal experience that this brings the worst kind of grief. Also, the average life expectancy of a native man is just 44 years old. The reality in Alaska is that these precious people are caught in a cycle of grief. This is compounded by the fact that there are almost no resources to help them grieve well and get through it. I personally know that if I did not have access to a local church's grief ministry, I would have had a much harder time dealing with my sister's death. We greatly desire to get up North to share the truth that Jesus defeated the power of sin and death, and only He can set people free.

KVRM is moving forward. We have a location for studios and volunteers have started to put in the phones and computer network. We are having a teleconference meeting in a couple of days to finalize plans to start construction of the transmitter site.

If God continues to bring in our support at this current pace we will be able to drive to Glennallen right after our training is over on May 15th. If it is not all in by then we will drive back down to the States, and find a temporary home until the rest comes in.

If you would like to join our support team by taking one or more shares, now would be a fantastic time! (One share is pledging to give $15 a month in faith promise support.) Simply fill out our pledge form online at our website, www.carlsons.info. This is the quickest way to get the information to us.

Thanks to all of you for your faithful prayers and support!

With love,
The Carlsons
